

programmes, tools, and resources

- Implement, track progress and drive continuous enhancement of career development programmes (including attachments, gig projects and job rotations) to develop an agile and skilled workforce.
- Manage workforce development projects and partnerships

Requirements

We are looking for self-motivated individuals who value integrity, teamwork and take pride in going the extra mile to provide excellent service.

KEY COMPETENCIES:

[Working Effectively with Citizens and Stakeholders]: Can work effectively with and mobilise stakeholders to act and deliver outcomes. Creates and promotes opportunities for collaboration across organisational boundaries.

[Working as One Public Service]: Strong belief in the values and principles of the Public Service, thinking and acting beyond the cluster's and agency's work, strong commitment to serving Singapore's national interest.

[Tech and Digital Adopter]: Keeps abreast of emerging technologies and recommend employee-centric solutions based on application in HR. Collaborates with technology providers to design and implement digital solutions.

[Analytics]: Comfortable with synthesizing large amount of quantitative and qualitative information to derive trends and provide evidence-based recommendations and insights.

[Learning & Development]: Ability to identify learning needs and create/curate meaningful interventions that are aligned to organisational goals and strategies in order to develop a capable workforce. This might involve competency modelling, learning and development planning, learning needs analysis, and learning effectiveness evaluation.

[Thinking Clearly and Making Sound Judgements] Strong analytical and critical thinking abilities. Able to make sound and timely decisions. Thinks ahead to anticipate issues, identify opportunities and appreciate implications.

WORK EXPERIENCE & KNOWLEDGE:

An ideal candidate should possess the following:

- At least 5 years of work experience in manpower or workforce planning, capability development, or HR strategy and operations.
- Work experience in developing insights from quantitative and qualitative information, and translating insights into actionable strategies and initiatives.
- Working knowledge and hands-on experience in competency development and/or job redesign is preferred

PERSONAL TRAITS:

- Resilient and able to cope with ambiguity.
- Thrives in challenging, fast-paced work environments and doing more with limited resources.
- Strong communication, writing and presentation skills.
- Driven. curious. resourceful. and agile